

About St. Francis College (SFC)

Founded in 1859 by the Franciscan Brothers, St. Francis College (SFC) has a rich legacy of academic excellence and service. Located in Brooklyn, New York, SFC educates over 4,500 students, primarily from the five boroughs, with backgrounds representing over 70 countries and more than 40 languages. With a network of 20,000 alumni, the college has produced distinguished public servants, scientists, lawyers, business professionals, nurses, teachers, and members of the clergy.

Rooted in Franciscan values of community, collaboration, and connection, SFC remains committed to providing a first-class, attainable, high-quality education to individuals of all racial, ethnic, and religious backgrounds, with a special focus on working-class New Yorkers. In 2021, the College launched a transformative initiative to restructure academic and programmatic offerings, aligning them with 21st-century career needs while expanding its reach locally and internationally. In 2022, SFC relocated to a modern, state-of-the-art campus in Downtown Brooklyn, ensuring it continues to prepare students for success in a rapidly evolving world.

Job Summary:

Reporting to the Chair of the Nursing Department, the Clinical Lecturer, Assistant Professor (Tenure Track), or Associate Professor (Tenure Track) will teach nursing courses in SFC's growing nursing programs, including its CCNE-accredited Baccalaureate Nursing program. Specialization in Medical-Surgical or Obstetrics/Women's Health is preferred.

Salary Range: $80,000 - $95,000 per year

Essential Duties & Responsibilities:

- Prepare and teach College-approved courses in accordance with course descriptions and schedules, including developing syllabi, reading lists, and keeping course content current.
- Engage with multiple constituencies, including students, faculty, staff, and external agencies (business, community, educational, etc.).
- Participate in departmental responsibilities, including selecting course texts and related teaching resources.
- Demonstrate the ability to work effectively with faculty, staff, and students.
- Attend and participate in convocation, commencement, and pinning ceremonies.
- Serve on assigned committees and task forces.
- Participate in committee, staff, informational, and professional meetings, including occasional evening or weekend events.
- Exhibit excellent oral and written communication skills with proficiency in Microsoft Office (Word, Excel, Outlook, Teams, etc.).
- Perform other teaching and related duties as assigned.

Minimum Qualifications:

- Master of Science in Nursing from an accredited institution.
- Current, unencumbered New York State RN license or eligibility to obtain one.
- At least two years of college teaching experience.
- At least four years of recent nursing experience in medical-surgical, obstetrics/women's health, critical care, pediatrics, or acute rehabilitation nursing.
- Commitment to undergraduate teaching and student-faculty collaborative research.
- Experience in teaching, curriculum development, and assessment.
- Strong interpersonal and communication skills with the ability to work effectively in a diverse college community.
- Commitment to the College's mission and its students, faculty, and staff.

Preferred Qualifications:

- Doctorate in nursing or a related field.
- At least one year of college teaching experience in a baccalaureate nursing program (minimum of 24 credits).
- Experience with online instruction and platforms such as Blackboard, Canvas, or Moodle.
- Background in curriculum development, program assessment, and evaluation.
- Experience facilitating high- and low-fidelity simulations.

Interested applicants can apply by clicking here.

St. Francis College is committed to providing opportunities to all persons without regard to sex, race, creed, color, religion, national origin, citizenship status, age, disability, marital status, gender identity or expression, predisposing genetic characteristics, status as a victim of domestic violence, sexual orientation, status as a Vietnam-era or special disabled veteran, or any other characteristic protected by law in its education programs and activities or employment.

The College is an Equal Opportunity employer.